EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Development challenges

Uganda faces several development challenges in the coming 2006–2010 period. Uganda's population has grown rapidly; the current annual growth rate amounts to 3.4%. Life expectancy at birth is as low as 45.7 years. The proportion of the population living in 2003 below the national poverty line was 38.8%, corresponding to 9.8 million Ugandans, with significant variations to region, sex and social status.

The estimated Net Enrolment Ratio (NER) in primary schools is 86%, with gender parity nearly achieved. Notwithstanding, marked regional and rural-urban variations prevail. However, 800,000 children aged 6–12 years never attend school due to poverty and associated child labour. Gender inequality is prominent as women receive lower pay compared to men. In addition, they have excessive domestic work, and the law and access to justice are less favourable to them.

Uganda has high rates of infant, under-five and maternal mortality as well as adolescent pregnancy rate. Malaria is still the leading cause of morbidity in Uganda alongside with malnutrition. Furthermore, AIDS still remains a challenge for the country although the HIV prevalence has dramatically fallen from an average of 18% to 6.2% in 2002, however, with substantial regional variations. Access to safe water and sanitation has improved on average. The declining quality of natural resources and environmental decay can jeopardize future economic development and pose a risk for human health.

Democratisation process in Uganda has made a reasonable headway during the past 19 years; discussions on wider participation and opening to a multi-party system for 2006 are ongoing. However, there are still challenges regarding corruption and human rights violations. Moreover, the attacks by the Lord's Resistance Army (LRA) have uprooted 1.4 million people to camps, with a doubling headcount during June 2003–March 2004. Cattle rustling has worsened over the years with increased inflow of small arms. In addition, conflicts and political instability in Uganda's neighbouring countries are responsible for 230,000 refugees in the country, overburdening the already fragile economy.

By deploying its combined resources, the United Nations System (UNS) is well placed to assist the Government of Uganda (GoU) in addressing these development challenges and striving towards achieving the Millennium Declaration (MD) targets, Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) and the objectives of the national Poverty Eradication Action Plan (PEAP). Through improved sharing of institutional knowledge and complementing of resources, the UNDAF is intended to give rise to better decision-making, enhanced collaboration in action and potential reduction of transaction costs.

Expected UNDAF outcomes

Addressing the development challenges of Uganda clearly requires a multidimensional approach. The UNS proposes a number of specific areas for intervention, focusing on equal opportunities, empowerment, sustainability, protection, and security which are essential for both successful poverty reduction and effective promotion of good governance and human rights. These are essential for giving voice to poor, marginalized and vulnerable groups and are designed to involve the public sector, private sector and civil society alike. In terms of HIV/AIDS, the UNS will contribute to Uganda's efforts to minimize the impact and halt the spread of HIV/AIDS; develop multi-sectoral strategies emphasizing human rights for all; and contribute to economic growth by addressing the pressure of HIV/AIDS on public resources. Finally, the overall objective of transition from relief to recovery is to reduce the regional disparities through the creation of enabling environment for peace, and the resettlement, reintegration and socio-economic recovery of conflict-affected populations and host communities.

In line with the above, the expected UNDAF Outcomes by the end of the programming cycle are as follows:

- Outcome 1: Increased opportunities for people, especially the most vulnerable, to access and utilize quality basic services and realize sustainable employment, income generation and food security;
- Outcome 2: Good governance, accountability and transparency of government and partner institutions improved at all levels;
- Outcome 3: The promotion and protection of human rights, especially of the most vulnerable, is strengthened;
- Outcome 4: Individuals, civil society, national and local institutions are empowered and effectively address the HIV and AIDS, with special emphasis on populations at higher risk;
- Outcome 5: People affected by conflict and disaster, especially women, children and other vulnerable groups, effectively participate in and benefit from the planning, timely implementation, monitoring and evaluation of programmes.

The needs and expectations for sustainable human development in Uganda and the achievement of the MD targets and the MDGs go well beyond the means of any individual Agency. They call for multidimensional partnerships with the GoU, NGOs/CSOs, private sector, bilateral donors, and among UN Agencies. The UNCT will, therefore, pursue a partnership strategy that revolves around dialogue, consultation, and collaboration, linking aid coordination to ongoing constitutional, institutional, legal and administrative reforms. The UNS will also consider the importance of regional cooperation based on the fact that there are several security challenges in Uganda, such as rebel insurgencies, cattle rustling and the proliferation of illicit small arms and light weapons. These challenges cannot be resolved without close cooperation with neighbouring countries and collective as well as comprehensive support by donors in establishing efficient border security and facilitating cross-border cooperation.

Financial resources available to implement provisions of the UNDAF include (1) the financial allocations by each participating UN organization, or direct resources; and (2) resources that organizations expect to mobilize over the period of the UNDAF in addition to their core resources.

Implementation, and monitoring and evaluation

To ensure a rights-based approach that leads towards the achievement of the MD targets and the MDGs, the UNS will focus on the most vulnerable groups, with explicit provisions on ensuring free, active, and meaningful participation. Moreover, to reduce regional disparities, exacerbated by conflict, that underlie much of the poverty in Uganda, the UNS will target resource-poor regions through support for a peace process and decentralization policy across the different sectors.

The advocacy for poverty reduction strategy will use the MDG and Millennium Declaration achievements' analysis to influence political will and build alliances in order to create an enabling policy, legal and public-opinion environment in favour of realisation of human rights and poverty elimination. This will include leveraging resources with donors, with Sectoral Investment Plans (SIPs) and the Medium-Term Expenditure Framework (MTEF), and with districts within the decentralised system, to influence budget allocations.

The programming cycles of UNDP, UNICEF, UNFPA and WFP are fully harmonized with the UNDAF timeframe of 2006-2010 along with the PEAP. The specialized Agencies are guided by annual (UNHCR) or biannual (WHO) Country Programmes. The provision of the UNDAF will be implemented through the Country Programme Documents (CPDs) and the Country Programme Action Plans (CPAPs), the development of which took place parallel to the finalization of the UNDAF. The selection and definition of Country Programme (CP) goals, objectives and strategies will be fully consistent with the UNDAF.

The five UNDAF Working Groups will continue to meet regularly and will serve as the main mechanisms for implementing and monitoring the UNDAF, under the oversight of the UNCT. Annual and mid-term reviews of Country Programmes of individual Agencies will analyse progress towards the Outcomes of the UNDAF. A joint mid-term evaluation by the GoU, UNS and other development partners will be conducted at the mid-point of the UNDAF period (2006-2010), synchronised with the respective Agencies' mid-term Country Programme reviews. Similarly, a joint end-of-cycle evaluation of the UNDAF will occur.

1 INTRODUCTION

The second United Nations Development Assistance Framework (UNDAF) of Uganda for 2006–2010 builds strongly on the key challenges identified and the Areas of Cooperation proposed in the Common Country Assessment (CCA). The overall objective is to improve cohesion of action towards implementation of the Millennium Declaration (MD) and the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) with Uganda's own priorities as expressed in the national Poverty Eradication Action Plan (PEAP).

The process leading to the signing of the UNDAF in Uganda started with the Joint Mid-Term Review in April 2004 where the overall plan for CCA/UNDAF preparation was agreed. Thematic Working Groups, arranged around the eight MDGs and represented by all the resident and many non-resident UN Agencies, were reconstituted to draft a respective section of the CCA with the methodology of the Human Rights Based Approach to Programming (HRBAP). The process culminated in an intensive two-month working period in July–August 2004, facilitated by an international consultant. Many important Ministries, other state institutions, and NGOs/CSOs were consulted to ensure broad participation. The process has been coordinated throughout by the UN Resident/Humanitarian Coordinator with the supervision of the entire Country Team and technical assistance from the Steering Committee, the UN RC Office and the UNDP's Economics Unit. In October 2004, the CCA Validation Workshop was arranged to critically discuss and validate the findings and conclusions of the country assessment as well as the proposed Areas of Cooperation. The CCA document was finalized at the end of 2004.

In October 2004, the United Nations System Staff College (UNSSC) organized a three-day retreat to formulate and agree upon the key strategic priorities for the UN System's work in Uganda for 2006–2010. New Working Groups were constituted around the five UNDAF Outcomes and were responsible for drafting the Results Matrices of the UNDAF as well as contributing to the M&E Framework. Most of the original UN participation was preserved and further strengthened by non-UN counterparts. The highly participatory work culminated in the Joint Strategy Meeting in February 2005 to discuss and validate the UNDAF document with its Results Matrices as well as to give guidance for the subsequent Country Programmes of the UNDP, UNICEF, WFP and UNFPA. The UNDAF was finalized at the end of March 2005.

Uganda faces several development challenges in the coming 2006–2010 period. Uganda has experienced rapid population growth with the current annual growth rate of 3.4%. Life expectancy is as low as 45.7 years. Mass displacement due to conflict in the northern districts has uprooted 1.4 million people and regional conflicts have caused the influx of approximately 230,000 refugees in Uganda. The proportion of the population living below the national poverty line was 38.8% in 2003, corresponding to 9.8 million Ugandans, with significant variations according to region, sex and social status.

The net enrolment in primary schools has more than tripled during the past eight years with an estimated average Net Enrolment Ratio (NER) of 86%. Gender parity has also been nearly achieved. Notwithstanding, there are significant regional and rural-urban variations. In contradiction with the basic right to education, 800,000 children aged 6–12 years never attend school due to poverty and associated child labour.

Women's output is not properly valued and women's double workday hampers them from improving their knowledge, participating in community affairs or developing their own capacities or new business ventures. Gender inequality is prominent also as to women and men's relation to the law, as embodied in the legal texts, and in terms of access to justice.

Uganda has high rates of infant, under-five and maternal mortality. Uganda also has the highest adolescent pregnancy rate in Sub-Saharan Africa. Malaria is still the leading cause of morbidity in Uganda alongside with malnutrition, the effects of which can also be seen in health statistics. Furthermore, AIDS still remains a challenge for the country although the HIV prevalence has dramatically fallen from an average of 18% in 1992 to 6.2% in 2002, however regional differences prevail.

Access to safe water and sanitation has improved on average although regional disparities are still wide. The quality of natural resources is declining: soil is losing its fertility, forest and associated savannah woodlands and bush are degrading, and water and wetlands are encroached on and polluted. Moreover, urbanization coupled with expanding slums affects the environment and the welfare of human settlements, jeopardizing future economic development and posing a risk for human health.

Democratisation process in Uganda has made a reasonable headway during the past 19 years. Decentralisation has brought elected local executives with the authority to plan, collect taxes and prioritise the use of resources at local levels. However, democratisation faces challenges as well. For instance, Uganda is rated 103rd out of 145 studied countries according to corruption. Human rights violations, such as illegal detention and torture, are also reported. In the political arena, discussions on wider participation and opening to a multi-party system for 2006 are ongoing.

The security and humanitarian situation in Uganda is characterised by the insurgency of the Lord's Resistance Army (LRA) in the northern districts and cattle rustling in Karamoja. The LRA's attacks have uprooted 1.4 million people to camps, with a doubling headcount during June 2003-March 2004. Cattle rustling has worsened over the years with increased inflow of small arms. In addition, conflicts and political instability in Uganda's neighbouring countries are responsible for 230,000 refugees in the country, overburdening the already fragile economy.

By deploying its combined resources, the United Nations System (UNS) is well placed to assist the Government of Uganda in addressing these development challenges and striving towards achieving the MD targets and MDGs. Intensified cooperation among UN Agencies, of which the UNDAF is one strategic tool, is a vital component of the UN Reform initiated by the Secretary-General in 1997. Through improved sharing of institutional knowledge and complementing of resources, the UNDAF is intended to give rise to better decision-making, improved collaboration in action and potential reduction of transaction costs. Thus, it is the centrepiece of the UN Reform at the country level, anchored in the MD, MDGs as well as the PEAP.

2 PROGRAMME FRAMEWORK

2.1 AREAS OF COOPERATION

With the completion of the CCA and initiation of the UNDAF process, a new level was reached for inter-agency collaboration in Uganda in 2004. At the workshop in October 2004 with Government representatives, consensus was reached on four Areas of Cooperation. These are:

- Reducing poverty and improving human development;
- Good governance, and protection and promotion of human rights;
- Supporting the national AIDS response;
- Accelerating the transition from relief to recovery in conflict-affected areas.

These are areas in which the UNS has a comparative advantage in supporting the objectives of the PEAP and the attainment of the MDGs by 2015. All are interlinked and mutually affect each other. It is particularly important to address the regional disparities in Uganda to provide a platform for affirmative action for Northern Uganda to accelerate recovery and, eventually, to achieve the targets of the Millennium Declaration and the MDGs. While micro-level interventions that help to empower and directly promote the livelihood of the poor are necessary, it is also vital to establish linkages with the macro-level so that all lessons learned and valuable experiences in grassroots interventions are reflected in policy-making processes.

It should be recognized that some of the human development indicators have not significantly improved and some of them have stagnated or even deteriorated. Protection of human rights in general, and those of women and girls in particular, is still of concern. Some key sectors, such as education and health are structurally under-funded while cost effectiveness and efficiency of public expenditure remain limited in most sectors. Conflict in the north and northeast and the subsequent degeneration of social services has hindered budget absorption capacity; the response to emergency needs is slow. Capacity gaps in national democratic institutions impede on the deepening of the democratic process and good governance to secure the long-term stability of the country for the realisation of the PEAP objectives, MD targets and MDGs. Finally, the situation in the conflict-affected areas is worsening the regional disparities.

2.2 NATIONAL DEVELOPMENT GOALS AND EXPECTED OUTCOMES

Based on the national medium-term development priorities contained in the PEAP, the United Nations Country Team (UNCT) has, in each Area of Cooperation, identified expected Outcomes to be achieved during 2006-2010, Country Programme Outputs, the Role of Partners and Resource Mobilization Targets. The Outcomes were developed, discussed and validated during the UNDAF Prioritisation Retreat with participation of Government, CSOs and bilateral donors. Details are described in Annexes.

2.2.1 Reducing poverty and improving human development

Uganda has experienced rapid population growth from 6.5 million in 1959 to estimated 25.3 million in 2003, the current growth rate being 3.4% per year. Life expectancy at birth was estimated at 45.7 years in 2003. With 52% of the population below 15 years in 2002, Uganda will have a high in-built momentum for future population growth, making it harder for the country to meet future challenges.

Due to conflict-induced mass displacement, the number of food-assisted internally displaced persons (IDPs) rose at one point to over 1.6 million in the north. Conflicts in the neighbouring countries have also resulted in over 230,000 refugees in Uganda, mainly from Sudan, the DRC and Rwanda.

The poverty headcount was 38.8% in 2003, amounting to 9.8 million Ugandans, with significant variations according to region, sex and social status. The poor are mostly in rural areas, where the headcount was 42.7% in 2003, and in the Northern Region with 63%. The poverty headcount has increased during the last four years by four percentage points although the economy has been growing by around 6% per annum for the period. Therefore, economic growth has benefited the richest segments of the population.

Uganda is at risk of facing a significant setback in its long-term endeavour to eradicate poverty. This is hoped to be a temporary phenomenon to be soon overcome with the implementation of the new PEAP. Nevertheless, it could also indicate that Uganda's overall performance against poverty is reaching the limits of the present organization of society: although significant, the average growth rate of 6% in the last decade has constantly proven less than the 7% rate needed for both the MDG and PEAP targets.

Box 1.1 Status of Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) in Uganda

The PEAP emphasizes five major pillars supporting the overall goal of the development of Uganda, which are in line with the MDGs:

- Pillar 1: Economic management
- Pillar 2: Production, competitiveness and incomes
- Pillar 3: Security, conflict-resolution and disaster managements
- Pillar 4: Governance
- Pillar 5: Human development

Uganda will have to make huge strides if it is to achieve the MDGs by 2015 for the country as a whole. The status of the individual MDGs, as outlined in the in the countries first MDG Progress Report (2003) is as follows

	Will the targets be reached by 2015	State of the supportive environment
Goal 1: Eradication of extreme poverty	Probably	Strong
Goal 2: Education	Probably	Strong
Goal 3: Gender equality	Potentially	Strong
Goal 4: Reduction of child mortality	Unlikely	Fair
Goal 5: Improvement of maternal health	Unlikely	Fair
Goal 6: Combating HIV/AIDS and other diseases	Already met	Strong
Goal 7: Environmental sustainability	Potentially	Fair

Poverty reduction in Uganda clearly requires a multidimensional approach. The UNS proposes a number of specific areas for intervention, focusing on opportunities, empowerment, protection, and security, where it has global mandates, operational capacities and local experience.

The UNS has identified the following UNDAF Outcome as summarized in Box 1.2 below.

Box 1.2 UNDAF Outcome for REDUCING POVERTY AND IMPROVING HUMAN DEVELOPMENT

Outcome 1: Increased opportunities for people, especially the most vulnerable, to access and utilize quality basic services and realize sustainable employment, income generation and food security.

2.2.2 Good governance and protection and promotion of human rights

In terms of governance, the democratisation process in Uganda has made a reasonable headway since the National Resistance Movement (NRM) came into power 19 years ago. Elections have been organized, most notably the Constituent Assembly elections of 1994, and two presidential and two parliamentary elections (both in 1996 and 2001). A Constitutional Review process that started in 2001 is ongoing.

As a step towards democratisation, decentralisation has brought elected local executives with the authority to plan, collect taxes and prioritise the use of resources for service delivery at local levels.

Political rights refer to the rule of law, equality of all citizens as well as individual and collective freedom and rights. Other principles, embodied in the institutional framework of Uganda, and to a certain extent, in practice, mainly concern transparency, accountability and action against corruption. They also consist of inclusive and participatory approaches to national or local matters.

However, democratisation faces challenges as well. For instance, Uganda is rated 103rd in terms of corruption; a concern also stated in the PEAP. Human rights violations, such as illegal detention and torture, are also reported. Moreover, insurgency and insecurity have stagnated political liberalisation in Uganda: the NRM is the only political organisation allowed to operate nationally although wider participation is under discussion and opening to a multi-party system is expected by 2006.

The GoU has set up the Ministry of Gender, Labour and Social Development, which is the national apparatus for gender mainstreaming and advancement of women. It is the main duty bearer for the execution of CEDAW as well as other international and national commitments. In education, the gap between the enrolment of boys and girls at primary and secondary levels is gradually narrowing. The same is true in accessing basic services as well as in representation in the political and economic arena.

Despite the progress registered, gender-biased relations in society still cause economic prejudice, physical injury and mental violence. Gender disparities continue to prevail despite some improvements. The continuation of insurgency in the north is, in this regard, a major concern. Community and social support systems for IDPs are over-stressed or have collapsed, making the poor and women more vulnerable to shocks.

Gender disparities persist in the level of poverty among female-headed households, in the legal provisions for women in areas such as inheritance, and in laws dealing with protection of women. The gender/socio-cultural norms that do not provide for equity and equality will be addressed for poverty reduction and to improve the quality of life of the people of Uganda.

Within the framework of poverty, the PEAP identifies social protection as a cross-cutting issue. Furthermore it identifies orphans and other vulnerable children (OVC), the elderly - especially women, the disabled and the displaced as particularly vulnerable. There are indications that these groups, along with children and women in areas affected by armed conflict, are not only likely to be among the poorest but are also at the risk of violation of their rights, specifically, not to be subjected to violence, abuse, exploitation, discrimination and neglect. Knowing that Uganda has developed a sound framework of laws and policies protecting vulnerable children, the key challenge is to translate the fine policy into action.

Empowerment, equity, sustainability, protection, and security are dimensions of governance that will guide all UNS initiatives in support of national development goals. These are essential for giving voice to poor, marginalized and vulnerable groups and are designed to involve the public sector, private sector and civil society alike. In view of the importance of good governance and human rights, two separate Outcomes were formulated and are summarized in Box 1.3 below.

Box 1.3 UNDAF Outcomes for GOOD GOVERNANCE AND THE PROTECTION AND PROMOTION OF HUMAN RIGHTS

Outcome 2: Good governance, accountability and transparency of government and partner institutions improved at all levels;

Outcome 3: The promotion and protection of human rights, especially of the most vulnerable, is strengthened.

2.2.3 Supporting the national AIDS response

In its over twenty-year-long response to AIDS, Uganda has seen the prevalence of HIV fall from an average of 18% in 1992 to 6.2% in 2002. However, the prevalence rate has lately stagnated. 1.1 million people are estimated to be currently living with HIV or AIDS, 150,000 are in urgent need of ART, and the disease can claim up to 100,000 lives per year. The most immediate cause of infection remains unprotected heterosexual transmission immediately followed by MTCT. This should induce all duty bearers to take heed from complacency. Action is being considered to make ARVs more available and translate the “3 by 5” UN global initiative in Uganda as 60,000 persons living with AIDS benefit from ARVs by the end of 2005. Longer-term plans are currently being developed.

The overall objective is to contribute to Uganda’s efforts to minimize the impact and halt the spread of HIV/AIDS; develop multi-sectoral strategies emphasizing human rights for all; and contributing to economic growth by addressing the impact of HIV/AIDS on public resources. In line with the above, the expected Outcome is summarized in Box 1.4 below.

Box 1.4 UNDAF Outcome for SUPPORTING THE NATIONAL AIDS RESPONSE

Outcome 4: Individuals, civil society, national and local institutions are empowered and effectively address the HIV and AIDS, with special emphasis on populations at higher risk.

2.2.4 Accelerating the transition from relief to recovery in conflict-affected areas

In Uganda, the security and humanitarian situation is characterised by the insurgency of the Lord’s Resistance Army (LRA) in the northern districts and cattle rustling in Karamoja. The LRA’s attacks have uprooted the large majority of the population in the north into internally displaced people’s camps, with a doubling headcount during June 2003–March 2004. Moreover in Karamoja, cattle rustling has worsened over the years with increased inflow of small arms.

In addition, conflicts and political instability in Uganda’s neighbouring countries are responsible for more than 230,000 refugees in the country, overburdening the already fragile economy.

Efforts to end the rebellion both through repeated contacts and even acceptance by the GoU of a ceasefire, in order to improve security and create better humanitarian conditions, are reported. The GoU also passed the Amnesty Act in January 2000 and established the Amnesty Commission. Pardon is offered to surrendering rebels; approximately 5,000 have accepted the option. For Karamoja, a disarmament programme was set up in November 2002, within the overall framework of Pacification and Development of Northern Uganda and Karamoja. It includes sensitisation among the population and other education initiatives. The GoU has also developed, with UN assistance, a Self-Reliance Strategy for foreign refugees.

Still, people in the northern districts are insufficiently protected. Over 30,000 people have been abducted, 25,000 of them being children who are forced to enrol as soldiers and girls as sex slaves. IDPs are forced to displacement to camps and “protected villages” where they face a constant threat of harassment and exploitation. Moreover, arbitrary harsh ill-treatment and torture of IDPs and other persons are reported, although such practices are prohibited by the Uganda Constitution, the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights (ICCPR), the African Charter in Human and People’s Rights (ACHPR) and the Convention Against Torture or Other Inhuman and Degrading Treatment or Punishment (CAT), to all of which Uganda is a signatory.

The overall objective is to reduce the regional disparities in terms of achieving the targets of the Millennium Declaration and the MDGs through the creation of enabling environment for peace and the resettlement, reintegration, and socio-economic recovery of conflict-affected populations and host communities. The key Outcome is summarized in Box 1.5 below

Box 1.5 UNDAF Outcome for

ACCELERATING THE TRANSITION FROM RELIEF TO RECOVERY IN CONFLICT-AFFECTED AREAS

Outcome 5: People affected by conflict and disaster, especially women, children and other vulnerable groups, effectively participate in and benefit from the planning, timely implementation, monitoring and evaluation of programmes.

2.3 COOPERATION STRATEGIES

The needs and expectations for sustainable human development in Uganda and the achievement of the Millennium Declaration targets and the MDGs go well beyond the means of any individual Agency. They call for multidimensional partnerships with the GoU, NGOs/CSOs, private sector, bilateral donors, and among UN Agencies. The UNCT will, therefore, pursue a partnership strategy that revolves around dialogue, consultation, and collaboration.

Through policy dialogue with the GoU and other stakeholders, the UNS will facilitate a comprehensive approach to aid coordination, linking such coordination to ongoing constitutional, institutional, legal and administrative reforms. It will continue its support for capacity development and technical assistance for policy development, coordination, monitoring and evaluation. Through joint advocacy, the UNS will also support policy makers on priority issues, particularly those related to MDGs, Millennium Declaration and other commitments for ensuring rights and protection.

In each UNDAF priority area, the UNS will consider the importance of regional cooperation based on the fact that security challenges in Uganda, such as the proliferation of illicit small arms and light weapons, cattle rustling, and rebel insurgencies, cannot be resolved without close cooperation with neighbouring countries together with collective and comprehensive support by donors in establishing efficient border security as well as facilitating cross-border cooperation.

Lastly, the UNS will devote particular efforts to strengthen capacities of institutions and organizations at the central and district level in support of deepening the democratic process in Uganda.

3 PROGRAMME RESOURCES FRAMEWORK

Operationalizing the MDGs in Uganda through the UNDAF comes with a price tag. The UNCT has taken this into consideration in the UNDAF as well as in individual Country Programmes.

Estimated financial resources required for each UNDAF Outcome are presented in the Resource Mobilization Target columns of the Results Matrices in Tables A.1-A.5. Financial resources available to implement provisions of the UNDAF include (1) the financial allocations by each participating UN organization, or direct resources; and (2) resources that organizations expect to mobilize over the period of the UNDAF in addition to their core resources. The following tables provide a breakdown of targets by organization and output; the breakdown of the latter should be seen as indicative. It should also be noted that resource commitments are not made through the UNDAF but rather through the in-country programmes or project documents, according to the procedures and approved mechanisms of each organization.

The UNCT will seek to mobilize extra-budgetary resources and to strengthen partnerships in pursuit of the formulated UNDAF outcomes.

4 IMPLEMENTATION

4.1 POVERTY AND RIGHTS FOCUS

A human rights-based approach - bringing human rights standards and values to the core of everything the United Nations does - offers the best prospect of empowering people to advance their own claims and to bridge the accountability deficits by making duty bearers aware of their respective duties. The principal framework for human rights integration into the work of the UNS is represented by this UNDAF and the CCA of development challenges in Uganda.

To ensure a rights-based approach that leads towards the achievement of the MD targets and the MDGs, the United Nations System will focus on the most vulnerable groups, with explicit provisions on ensuring free, active, and meaningful participation. Moreover, to contribute to the reduction of regional disparities, exacerbated by conflict, that underlie much of the poverty in Uganda, the UNS will target resource-poor regions. Importance will be given to effective links and relationships between the Government, civil society, and the private sector, through support for a peace process and the decentralization policy across the different sectors.

The advocacy for poverty reduction strategy will use the MDG and Millennium Declaration achievements' analysis for evidence-based prioritisation of human development. This will, in turn, influence political will and build alliances to create an enabling policy, legal and public-opinion environment in favour of realisation of human rights and poverty elimination. This will include leveraging resources with donors, with Sectoral Investment Plans (SIPs) and the Medium-Term Expenditure Framework (MTEF), and with districts within the decentralised system to influence budget allocations.

4.2 HARMONIZATION OF PROGRAMMES

The programme cycles of all UNDG Executive Committee Agencies - i.e. UNDP, UNICEF, UNFPA and WFP - are fully harmonized with the UNDAF timeframe of 2006-2010 along with the PEAP. The specialized Agencies are guided by annual (UNHCR) or biannual (WHO) Country Programmes, and a new programming cycle starts on 1 January 2006.

The provision of the UNDAF will be implemented through the Country Programme Action Plans (CPAPs) agreed to by the partner organizations. The selection and definition of goals, objectives, and strategies will be fully consistent with the UNDAF. Individual Country Programmes and project documents will specify how they contribute to UNDAF objectives and cooperation strategies. The work on individual Country Programme Documents (CPD) and CPAPs is taking place parallel to the finalization of the UNDAF and both processes are enriching each other ensuring that the synergies, linkages and best practices are shared within the UNS and with its partners.

4.3 DEVELOPMENT COORDINATION

A number of coordination forums at different levels allow for close coordination between the multilateral and bilateral funding agencies. Within this context, lead sectoral assistance agencies hold regular aid coordination meetings in the sectors identified in the PEAP. Such meetings offer opportunities for cooperation at the operational level as well as avoidance of duplication of efforts.

The UNS will continue to facilitate dialogue between the GoU and the donor community on issues of common interest. It will encourage improved coordination among the development community through greater exchange of information and enhanced collaboration as chair of, and active participant in specific Donor Working Groups.

In addition, the UNS will continue its collaborative efforts in the area of common premises and services. The implementation of common contracting within the UNS will be pursued in the potential areas of security, travel service, banking, shipping, and courier services.

5 MONITORING AND EVALUATION

Provisions for follow-up and review of the UNDAF are based on the principle that the UNDAF is a living document. The UNDAF may have to be adapted to respond to changes in Uganda's economic, political or social situations.

5.1 INTERNAL REVIEWS

The five UNDAF Working Groups will continue to meet regularly and will serve as the main mechanism for implementing and monitoring the UNDAF, under the oversight of the UNCT (see Annex B for comprehensive monitoring indicators). The following strategies will be employed:

- Selection of lead Agencies for each focus area of collaboration, if such do not already exist;
- Development of individual Working Group workplans with clear goals and objectives, to be integrated into the Annual Report and Workplan of the Resident Coordinator.

The MDG reports for Uganda will serve as the primary means for reporting on UNDAF activities, complemented by the Annual Report and Workplan of the Resident Coordinator. At the same time, the Working Groups will establish a linkage between the indicators established to measure UNDAF Outputs and the contribution of these Outputs to the achievement of the MD targets and the MDGs.

Overall, the UNCT, under the RC's leadership, will be responsible for the review and validation of the cooperation between organizations on the UNDAF priority areas to ensure that individual Agencies' CPDs reflect such objectives as appropriate. It will also ensure the effective functioning of the WGs, with assistance from the RC's office. Regular UNCT meetings will establish an ongoing, high-level exchange of information and strengthen partnerships as well as improve coordination and collaboration of the UNS as a whole. Effective inter-agency collaboration will be included in all Agency Workplans and reviews.

5.2 JOINT AND EXTERNAL REVIEWS

Annual and mid-term reviews of the Country Programmes of individual Agencies will analyse progress towards the Outcomes of the UNDAF and its information will be fed into the UN RC's Annual Report.

A joint mid-term evaluation by the GoU, UNS and other development partners will be conducted at the midpoint of the UNDAF period (2006-2010), synchronised as much as possible with the respective Agencies' mid-term Country Programme reviews. Similarly, a joint end-of-cycle evaluation of the UNDAF will occur. Such evaluations, providing feedback and guidance on the management of the process, results and outcomes, will ensure that UN's efforts remain focused on national priorities, and that the achievements and lessons learned addressed and best practices are acknowledged. During the mid-term review in particular, it will be important to re-examine the Programme Resources Framework.

5.3 PARTNERSHIP BUILDING

The preparatory processes of the CCA and UNDAF supported the development of strong partnerships, increased networking among development organizations, greater exchange of information and expertise, and more focused, collaborative UNS participation in development cooperation. The UNCT will build on this process to consolidate its position as a trusted development partner and will continue its support to inter- and intra-sectoral coordination.

The UNCT will pursue partnership building with the GoU and the development community for the consensus, coordination and synergy of the national priorities. Partnership arrangements with the GoU shall ensure full ownership and leadership of UN's programmes and projects framed within the priorities laid out in the PEAP.

Mutually beneficial partnerships with multilateral institutions and bilateral donors will be pursued based on the convergence of interests and objectives. The UNS will engage in policy dialogue with both resident and non-resident donors and other stakeholders for ensuring that objectives identified through the UNDAF receive necessary attention.

By deploying its combined resources, the UNS is well placed to assist the Government of Uganda in addressing these development challenges and striving towards achieving the MD targets and the MDGs. Intensified cooperation among UN Agencies, of which the UNDAF is one strategic tool, is a vital component of the UN Reform initiated by the Secretary-General in 1997.

Through improved sharing of institutional knowledge and complementing of resources, the UNDAF is intended to give rise to better decision-making and improved collaboration in action. Thus, it is the centrepiece of the UN Reform at the country level, anchored in the Millennium Declaration and the MDGs as well as the PEAP.
